

The background of the advertisement is a close-up photograph of a glass mug being filled with a dark, rich beer. A stream of beer is being poured from a bottle into the mug, creating a thick head of foam. Wisps of white steam rise from the surface of the beer, suggesting it is hot. The lighting is warm and focused on the mug, with a dark background. In the foreground, there are blurred elements of food, including what appears to be a slice of bread and some spices like cinnamon sticks and nutmeg.
